of the church in 1851, a vote of the people was taken to build "a temple of the best materials that can be obtained in North America." The material selected for the foundation was fire stone from a canvon four miles distant. When the walls came to be built, cut granite from Little Cottonwood canyon, eighteen miles dis-tant, was chosen as the most suitable material. Prior to the advent of the railway in 1870 this rock had to be hauled by ox and mule teams. On February 6, 1853, ground was broken and 6th of April following the corner stones were laid sixteen feet below the surface of the ground. When Johnston's army came through in 1858 the foundation of the temple was entirely cov-ered over with earth and the people moved south from Salt Lake for a time. Four years after this work was resumed on the building. There are star stones, representing the glory of the stars. On the west tower is the ursa major, pointing to the polar star and inmankind to return to God. Then there are cloud stones and others of like symbolical nature. The belief of the Mormons, or Latter-day Saints, as they call themselves, is that without the ordinances and endowments that can be given only in a temple they cannot obtain complete salvation. These endowments are the conferring of certain blessings pertaining to their existence hereafter for the ose who are living and also in behalf of those who have died without the opportunity of personally receiving in the flesh the desirable ordinations.

ELIGIBLE TO ADMISSION TO THE TEMPLE. This accounts for the activity and the persistency of the saints in building temples. Among temple ordinances are the sealing for eternity by divine authority, of family relationships, and those of husband and wife and parents and children; also baptisms and various rites in behalf of the dead. It is the rule that only those who have become dis-ciples of Christ and seek to live sincere Christian lives will be admitted to temples. They are places of worship for those only who are members of the Mormon Church, which claims to be church of Christ and the only one on earth existing by His authority and directed by revelation from Him. They look upon 300. the temple in Sait Lake City as the one the fourth chapter of Micah. There was no cereinstant later Sheriff McCleary pulled the spring and Cloonan dropped twenty inches, ilis neck wa not broken and he died of strangulation. The legs were drawn up several times and there was visible twitching of the body. In ten minutes life was extinct and two minutes later the body was lowered and given into the keeping of Cleonan's four sons, who will give it interment. Cloonan's crime was one of the most brutal murders in the police annals of Allegheny county. On the evening of March 17, 1892, Cloonan got very drunk. He went to his home and abused his wife. The couple had not lived happily for several years.

No one knows how the affair happened, except that the neighbors heard Mrs. Cloonan creaming. Shortly afterward Cloonan reeled into the house of Policeman Kinney and asked that some one fasten his necktie. It was then discovered that the tie, as well as his hands and clothing, was covered with blood. Cloonan ran from the house. The neighbors, entering Cloonan's house, found the lifeless body of Mrs. Cloonan lying on the floor, her head beaten almost to a pulp. Beside her on the floor lay the remains of a heavy oak chair, which had been broken in pieces by the mur-derer in his brutal assault. While removing the dying woman to the hospital she breathed without regaining consciousness. Dennis Cloonan was afterward arrested and ad-

Bright of Indiana, sergeantat-arms, and William Milburne, chaplain. In discussing the resolutions a number of the Sen-ntors took the opportunity to say many pleasant things concerning the outgoing officers. The speakers were Senators Manderson, Gorman, Harris, Palmer, Voornees and Blackburn. Senator Palmer spoke feelingly of his admiration and regard for Secretary Mc-Cook, who, he said, had served under him during the war and had exhibited soldier like qualifications of the highest order. Sen-ators Voornees and Blackburn spoke in the same strain regarding Mr. McCook. Senator Blackburn spoke of his regret that political necessities demanded a change in these offices. All three of the outgoing men, he said, were men of exceptional ability and character and take with them the regard and admiration of

THE NEW PENSION COMMISSIONER.

The President had a comparatively light day pointment, certainly so far as the northwest is today. But few new applications for office concerned, could have been made by the Presiwere presented to him and the Senators and dent than the nomination of Judge Wm. Lochren of Minnesota to succeed Gen. Raum as commissioner of pensions. Judge Lochren has a reputation as a jurist of the first order, but his military record is order, but his military record is particularly brilliant, a fact that will be good news to the old soldiers with whose fortunes he is to be intrusted. He is fifty-seven years of age and was born in Vermont, where he was educated in the public schools and admitted to he is of the old school democracy, and as it was the bar. Wm. Lochren returned to Minnesota and restory further represented that Martin had sumed the practice of law. He was very popular and was twice the democratic caucus nee for a seat in the United States Senate. In 1882 he was appointed by a republican governor to a judge ship on the circuit bench and at the expiration of his appointment was twice re-elected to the same place without opposition. He has never sought office and his popularity is best attested by the fact that although he is a democrat his candidacy for the place for which he is nomi-nated was indersed by the unanimous vote of
